Architectural Threesome from the Netherlands: Conference and Exhibitions

EXHIBITION

MOBILE FORCES: BEN VAN BERKELProject

Architectural designer and theorist Greg Lynn selects Dutch architect Ben van Berkel to create an installation at Artists Space. Mobile Forces consists of models, diagrammatic wallpaper and videos of animated computer designs. The installation challenges limits of formalist architecture and explores the crossroads between the emerging theoretical and practical realities of high end technology.
